Exodus Mad Libs

_____ (number) years ago, the Israelites were slaves to the _____ (adjective) Pharaoh of _____ (name of country). He made them build _____ (plural noun) and _____ (plural noun).

In their affliction they cried out, saying _____ (a verbal expression or saying). God sent _____ (person in room) to Pharaoh to say, "Let my people _____ (verb)." But Pharaoh wouldn't listen so God sent _____ (number) _____ (plural noun) to punish the Egyptians and to free the Israelites.

First, the water turned to _____ (a liquid), then _____ (a kind of animal - plural) came out of the Nile, and _____ (a kind of animal - plural) infested the Egyptians. Bad things just kept happening to the Egyptians until Pharaoh changed his mind.

Pharaoh finally let the Israelites go. They were in such a rush they didn't have time to bake _____ (a food), and ate _____ (a food) instead. The Israelites journeyed towards _____ (location). The Egyptians chased after them, but when all seemed lost, God saved them by _____ (verb ending in -ing) the _____ (noun).

The Israelites were finally free to serve God in the desert for 40 years and reach the Holy Land, so every year we remember this story of Passover by eating _____ (a food) and finding the _____(a noun) hidden around the house. Be sure to look under the _____ (a noun); that's a great hiding place!

Next year in _____ (a location)!

©2013 Behrman House, Inc./Babaganewz