

ABOUT THE AUTHOR:

Lisa Bob Howard is a Jewish educator, teacher, and teacher trainer. She presents workshops for religious school teachers at all levels—from novice to master teachers—on topics including using technology in the classroom, working with aides, reaching students with special needs, and engaging teens in Jewish life. Lisa has a Master of Arts in Education and a Bachelor of Literature in Hebrew Letters from the University of Judaism, and a Bachelor of Science in Education from Northwestern University.